

House Bill 4822

House bill 4822 is a serious bill for third graders the bill could become a law.

The bill is that if third graders get second grade reading level or lower for the M-Step test they have to redo third grade. I think third graders shouldn't have to redo third grade. The reason I think that is because 30% of third graders have not been afforded the gift of literacy. So if 30% of third graders have to redo third grade there will be about 50 kids in each class after like 4-6 years. Then if there are about 50 kids in each third grade class the teacher will not be able to help kids as much that need more help learning because she/he will have to teach as many as 40 other kids. Also, it's not fair that kids with learning disabilities have to redo third grade. If a kid had learning disabilities and had to redo third grade the kid wouldn't be in a class with his/her friends and it is not even the kid's fault he/she has learning disabilities. That is why I am against bill 4822.
