

House Bill 4822 3rd grade reading bill

There is a House Bill 4822 going on and we need to make it a law. I believe yes they should hold back third graders because schools would not get boring for others. I think it should be more than 2 years maybe 3 years could be the limit if they don't get it done with their own paces. Maybe that is still not enough for them so maybe 3 or 2 years they need more time. Then they get even smarter than before. If they can't handle 3rd grade then can not handle 4th grade. Students will learn 3rd grade better if they get held back a few times, this gives the students more time to learn to do everything like reading show them how to read. They might become the smartest in the class of 4th grade. There are so many reasons out of only 1 good reason. I think Rick Snyder should make it a legislation because I saw that some third graders don't listen and don't follow the rules and also all you have to do is hold back the third graders. They can learn better and get really smart at the end of the school year. But Florida has it they made it a legislation and if third grade student does not pass it will be one time cause that student could do bad and he was only bad on the reading he still needs help on the reading and just does it over again on the math. If he does not pass and his friends go he can make new friends from second to 3rd graders. The other thing is that I know they will be heartshattered but they will also will get smarter than before and smarter and they will know 4th better than all the rest. Then they will thank us in 6th grade because they were so smart they got to pass 5th grade. I think that it should get passed.

SydneyDenney

Age 9

Grandville Public Schools

Cummings Elementary